

What is Somatropin?

Somatropin is an amino acid (protein) chain secreted by the pituitary gland. Somatropin is directly responsible for stimulating tissue repair, cell replacement and brain function.

Somatropin levels are very high in our youth, keeping us energetic, optimistic and healthy. Somatropin then declines about 80% from ages 20 to 60. This decreased level has significant negative effects on fat deposition, disease immunity, energy levels, mental agility and overall health.

What if You Increase GH Levels?

Clinical evidence demonstrates that by increasing somatropin, also called HGH, you can dramatically reverse many negative health symptoms that develop with aging. Science tells us that we can rejuvenate almost every cell in the body, renewing them to their former youthful levels. Somatropin would be better named the Rejuvenation or Anti-Aging Hormone.

Increased energy, weight loss, leaner muscle mass, sleeping better, younger wrinkle free skin, enhanced sexual performance - and more can be yours as you increase somatropin in your body. The benefits of increasing somatropin levels in adults (30 yrs+) have been well documented. Slowing, stopping or even reversing the biological aging process is simple, practical and possible. Revitalization of energy levels, increased immune functions, regeneration of all major organs (including the skin) and strengthening of bones are just a few of the benefits of increased somatropin levels.

More Balanced, Youthful Hormones

After a double blind clinical study on Regenesi oral spray somatropin, Dr. Steven Novil concluded: "There is a significant physiological change with the patients. The direction in movement of hormone levels being brought back to youthful and regenerative levels is significant in of itself." He went on to state, "Supporting data of the double blind study, show that the patients consistently evidenced marked progressiveness towards balance. The spray returned the body to a higher metabolism with greater efficiency and a more youthful level of chemistry."

Some people notice improvements within a few weeks, such as increased energy, better sleep, and better mood. However for others it takes longer. An initial period of at least 6 months is recommended. Structural improvements definitely take longer, months and not weeks. Remember that the initial benefits occur "on the inside" before manifesting "on the outside". If you practice a healthy lifestyle while using Regenesi Pro 500, you are likely to see results faster.

F. Pearl McBroom, MD, Preventive Medicine Specialist in Southern California, has extensive clinical experience with Regenesi oral spray somatropin. She has documented improvement in greater than 95% of patients studied, including increased energy, improved mental clarity, restoration of hormone balance and an increased sense of well being.

Why Regenesi?

Regenesi originated oral spray somatropin. With more experience than anyone else, Regenesi has learned how to make the most effective spray. We are the only manufacturer with double blind clinical studies and shelf life studies.

Regenesi somatropin mimics the body with Low Dosage/High Frequency (LD/HF) therapy. This approach works with the body in the natural somatropin release cycle.

Regenesi somatropin spray has shown to lower free serum IGF-1 levels by promoting an increased number of IGF receptor sites. High levels of free serum IGF (and insulin) have been associated with obesity, diabetes and cancers.

Patients who have been on Regenesi somatropin spray tell us the benefits continue over the years they have taken the product. They become more youthful both physically and mentally.

How to Take Regenesi Pro 500

The most effective times to take Regenesi Pro 500 are immediately before exercise and immediately before bedtime.

Spray 3-4 sprays immediately prior to sleep. Spray once every 20-30 minutes during exercise. Exercise programs vary for each person. For some it is a brisk walk or gardening. For others it is a game of tennis or a strenuous workout. Whatever your exercise, spray before you begin.

Spray under the tongue or inside the cheek. Spread the sprays in different areas. Do not swallow for 1-2 minutes.

Spray 6-8 sprays per day for the first three months. Some users will change to a maintenance dosage of 4 sprays per day, however users will see much greater benefit from 6 sprays daily.

Regenesi Pro 500 is more effective when avoiding the period: 20 minutes before to 2 hours after eating.

Regenesi Pro 500 may be administered 7 days per week. Results may be increased by not using Regenesi Pro 500 for one week every 3 months.

Monitor Your Progress

It is important to understand that the most important benefits occur through long-term usage (1 year or more) of Regenesi. Since we don't often notice when aches or pains leave us. Make a list of all the items in which you would like to see a change for the better. Take another look at this list after 3, 6 and 12 months. We are sure you'll be pleased with the progress.
